To whom it concerns,

Boulder Mountainbike Alliance and I confidently recommend ContourLogic as a go-to resource for troubleshooting existing trails and for designing new trails. BMA has employed Scott Gordon of ContourLogic for the past two seasons to address nearly a half dozen trail projects across Boulder County.

ContourLogic has helped BMA position itself as a key partner with the US Forest Service. Aside from training many of our volunteer trail crew leaders, Scott designed and gained approval for several reroutes of problematic trail segments. Often working under tight constraints—natural or political—Scott creatively finds ways to make the new trail not only more sustainable, but also more fun to ride.

Thanks to a successful pilot project and grant application working with ContourLogic, BMA is now crafting a new Trails Master Plan for the popular West Magnolia trail system. We are hiring ContourLogic to lead the charge. I have personally spent many hours with Scott on this project and others. His professionalism and experience have been a welcome benefits in this often difficult process.

As a trail advocacy organization, we value how Scott is able to synthesize the goals, questions and concerns posed by local land mangers, address those concerns in a sensitive design and reflect back to recreation officials why and how trails can offer quality recreation while simultaneously protecting natural resources.

Trail advocates and land managers alike will find ContourLogic to be a reliable, solution-oriented trails professional. Please contact me if you would like to discuss ContourLogic's qualifications and level of service provided.

Sincerely,
